Here In HONDO

T. C. Richardson, Texas Editor of the Farmer-Stockman, was a brief visitor in Hondo Monday while on a journey that will take him in a circuitous route from Dallas to the lower Rio Grande Valley and return. Mr. Richardson was once a country newspaper man. He quit that to become a county agent when that service was in its pioneering stage. Later he became a field editor on the staff of Frank Holland's Farm and Ranch and contributed largely to its success in its palmiest days. Some years ago, he took a similar position with the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman as its Texas representative and has had the satisfaction of seeing it grow from a Texas circulation of some 25 thousand to where it issues a Texas edition with a circulation of its own of ten-times that number. Few men have written so voluminously of farm matters as T. C. Richardson, and certainly none have produced a sounder, safer product.

The Hondo Chamber of Commerce has just completed repainting Hondo's famous signs at the city limits.

Through The Neighbor's Keyhole

We see too, that under the present Gilmer-Aiken transportation setup for schools, Gonzales independent school district could earn up to $42,892.50 this year, according to School Superintendent A. U. Bird, who has just finished compiling a report on the subject. A special rider, however, reduces the Gonzales school portion to 10 percent more than the amount earned in 1949-50, with the result that the ceiling on earnings is $39,160.

Seguin tells of city-owned utilities making a fine profit during the past fiscal year. An audit showed that the city had made a net profit of $176,246.55 on its electric, water and sewer departments. This was an increase of about $17,000 over the previous year's net profit. Assets of the utilities were increased by almost $199,000. There have been no raises in utility rates, taxes or tax valuations, according to Mayor Roger Moore.

The Del Rio News Herald reports the installation of a one-way traffic system on Main Street extremely helpful. Mayor A. C. Kennedy said Saturday the transition to one-way traffic on South Main Street from Garfield Avenue to Strickland Street was accomplished with remarkable smoothness. Friday was the first day such one-way traffic was in operation.

"It seems the congestion has been relieved to a great extent," Mayor Kennedy said. "We were very pleased with the cooperation the driving public gave the move."

"We have heard some criticism but there are always those who dislike any sign of change," the mayor continued. "We believe traffic is able to move about twice as fast as when it traveled both north and south."

The city of New Braunfels has tentatively reserved a site for construction of a $150,000 National Guard Armory. This is in keeping with the planned establishment of permanent armories that will be constructed in all towns now maintaining National Guard units. Approved plans indicate a $75,000 structure for single guard units. The Armory Board requires local communities to furnish a deed to suitable property to qualify for permanent armory facilities.

Governor Shivers Tackles Growing Alcoholic Problem

Constructive action regarding Texas' growing alcoholic problem has been recommended to Governor Allan Shivers by the state-wide committee of interested citizens which he appointed two years ago.

The suggested overall program calls for treatment, rehabilitation, education and prevention, costing a minimum of $400,000 a year and financed by increases of $10 on beer licenses and $25 on liquor permits.

The recommendations submitted to the Governor reflect the results of a state-wide survey, advice of experienced persons working in the field of alcoholism and on the spot studies by members of the Committee of similar programs in other states.

A poll of nearly 1,000 Texas county and district judges, county attorneys, county courts at law, police chiefs, county health officers, presidents and secretaries of county medical societies, hospital and clinic authorities and members of the Texas Academy of General Practice showed these opinions:

Alcoholism is a "public health problem," according to 81.3 percent.

It is the responsibility of the state, local community, or both, in the opinion of 82 percent.

Existing treatment facilities are inadequate; 89 percent thought that special facilities are needed.

An educational, treatment and rehabilitation program should be paid for either by all drinkers (by taxation) or by all dealers (by license fees) - (Only 4.6 percent believe the cost should be shouldered by all taxpayers.)

The Committee further reported:

Experience at numerous other places shows that at least 50 percent of all alcoholics can be rehabilitated.

Even 10 per cent rehabilitation will represent an economic gain. Treatment of alcoholics requires special facilities of three types: local clinics; treatment at state facilities (for those needing 30-90 days of care); farm colonies for repeaters with long records.

Education and prevention programs will reverse the growth of the disease.

Estimates that there are 50,000 chronic alcoholics and 150,000 problem drinkers in Texas are conservative.

Neglecting the problem costs more than will rehabilitation and treatment.

In addition to the cost and financing of the state-wide program for alcoholics, the Committee suggested:

Creation of a new state agency—the Texas Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program, to direct and coordinate the program.

That as many existing facilities as possible be used.

That the new agency be authorized to allocate funds:

For up to 75 per cent of the cost of local clinics.

For all the cost of state facilities to be operated by the Hospital Board.

For farm colony operations;

To Texas educational agencies for study and instructions;

To medical schools for research.

That counties be authorized to finance one-fourth of the cost of local clinics by increasing beer licenses fees and liquor permits up to $5 and $12.50, respectively.

The public is invited to hear Governor Shivers' Committeemen speak on Alcoholism at the high school on Thursday night, March 5th, at 7:30. The film on "Drunk Driving" will also be shown.

The settlement grew; by 1848 early Court records show a jail was needed. In 1853 Castro donated two lots for the site of a Court House that was to serve also as a school. A rock dam, still intact, was built about 1854 to furnish power for a grist mill. Other early industries included a saw-mill, cypress shingle mill, and later a cotton gin.

For 100 years there have been only two churches in Castroville—the Roman Catholic and Lutheran. The corner stone for the first Catholic Church was blessed by Bishop Odin on September 11, 1844, and was dedicated to St. Louis, King of France. The small building itself was not constructed until the first resident pastor came in 1847. It may be seen today on the campus of Moyer Military School. A second church was built in 1850 but had to be abandoned because of faulty construction. The present and third church of the parish, an imposing structure, was constructed during Father Peter

Legislative Immunity To Libel Actions Explained

Does the law provide redress for persons whose character and reputations are wrongfully assailed? Lawyers say that it does, but with exceptions.

Occasionally the public is agitated by charges brought on the floor of Congress against various individuals—scientists, actors and highly placed government employees. In some cases, where the falsity of those charges has been established, we have become interested in what remedy is available to a person wrongfully accused, either orally or in print.

This situation has given new emphasis and importance to the laws governing libel and slander. What are libel and slander? Generally speaking, libel is a malicious or false publication, in print or in writing, about the character or reputation of a person, made without justification or excuse. This need not be something printed in a newspaper or magazine article—it may be a private letter in which something false and malicious is stated.

Slander is a defamation of a person's character, without legal excuse, made by the spoken word. This need not necessarily be a radio or television address but may be an oral statement which is not mechanically broadcast and which may be heard only by a few rather than by a great number.

Our system of jurisprudence, originating in the common law of England, has always recognized the right of the individual to be safe from an unjust or wrongful attack upon his character and reputation. The relief provided by our laws includes both penal action and civil action for damages. But these remedies do not exist without qualifications and exceptions.

Certain public officials such as members of Congress and members of legislatures, in the course of exercising their duties, have immunity from libel and slander laws.

On the surface this may appear to be somewhat unfair in that a congressman or state legislator may say things which are untrue about a person and that person has no right to bring suit for damages against him. But there is a reason for it.

Although the rights of the individual are very dear and highly respected by our Constitution and laws, there are times when some of those rights must be suspended if other functions of government are to be realized. If a congressman or legislator stands in fear of being sued because of what he says while advocating or opposing legislation, the function of Congress and the legislature would come to a standstill. For that reason the law gives them immunity.

However, recently some congressmen have been accused of abusing this privilege. There has been talk about our law being amended to give injured parties redress against them for false statements.

Mr. V. P. King, Chairman of the Medina County PMA, has announced that the Coaner variety of castor bean planting seed will become available to the producers of Medina county Thursday morning, March 5, 1953, at the Medina County PMA office. Seed will be available in 50 and 100 pound bags at the rate of fifteen cents per pound.

There are no allotments established for 1953, and seed will be sold on a first-come first-served basis.

All producers will execute a Castor Bean Contract with Commodity Credit Corporation at the time of purchase. This contract specifies that the producer will sell his entire production to CCC for a price of nine cents per pound, or market price, whichever is higher at the time of sale.

Members of the 8707th "Alamo" Pilot Training Wing, AF Reserve, have recently completed another weekend training period at Brook Air Force Base, SA.

Captain Bruce C. Williamson is a member of this group, and he with his family are moving to SA in order to be nearer the base.

Reservists meet once a month for two days of actual training, for which they receive four days pay. They are trained in such phases of Air Force Operations as flight training, engine and hydraulic mechanics, administration, and medical and dental fields.

Men and women in the Natalia area interested in joining the "Alamo" Wing are urged to write to the Recruiting Officer, 237th Air Force Reserve Flying Training Center, Brooks Air Force Base, SA.

Public School Week is March 2-7. Supt. Ben Tiney says "no open house has been planned for the week at the Natalia schools, but all patrons are invited to visit classrooms during this time or any other time." An open house will probably be held after repairs to the damaged rooms are completed.

D'HANIS PIRATES FACE ST. MARY'S RATTLERS FOR FIRST GAME OF '53

Baseball season officially gets underway in D'Hanis at 3 P. M. Sunday, when the D'Hanis Pirates take on the St. Mary's Rattlers of San Antonio on the local diamond.

Pirate Manager Tom Finger this week named Veteran Ep Finger and young Bob Rothe to pitch against Brother Bill Siemer's Collegians. Joe Keefe will be behind the plate.

For St. Mary's Brother Siemer is expected to counter with Righthanded Letterman Rusty Lyons, Jr. and Hector Garcia. The game will make the first of the 1953 season for the D'Hanis nine, but the Pirates might be out for a small piece of revenge. In 1951, with Garcia pitching, St. Mary's lambasted D'Hanis, 13-5.

Finger believes his club will be a little stronger this year than in 1952 when the Pirates wound up in fourth place of the Highway 90 League. With Catcher Joe Keefe discharged from the Army and ready for regular backstopping duty and the addition of Shortstop Jimmy Madley, it will mean that Ep Finger and Bob Rothe will be available for starting mound duty.

Finger himself has indicated he will do more pitching this year.

Posted around the bases will be Hilary Huser, first; Jack Finger, second; and Horace Langfield, third. In the outfield, it will probably be Bonnard Rothe in right, John Henry Poerner, center, and Tom Finger, left.

Back for more pitching service are Jack Zinsmeyer and Bill Rothe, mainsprings of last year's staff.

Finger also thinks he will have a stronger bench with Catcher Herman Schmidt, and infielders Mitchie Koch, J. D. Nester and Joe Finger.

Lost to the team is John Tondre who underwent a leg operation, but who will be around as a coach.

Athletics Start Spring Training
A. W. Trip, manager of the LaCoste Athletics baseball team, has announced the first practice of the season will be at 1:00 p. m. Sunday, March 8. Anyone interested in joining the Athletics for this season is welcome to come out on Sunday and begin practice.

The Athletics will play on a new field this year. Work has been underway for the past two weeks on the George Zinsmeyer property, north of LaCoste, getting it in shape for the coming season.

Macdona Shooting Club Holds Monthly Meeting
J. E. Lloyd took top honors with 568.3 at the monthly medal shoot held for the members of the Macdona Shooting Club last Sunday. Richard A. Biediger tied with Lloyd with 568.2, and Biediger walked away with the rest medal with the aggregate score of 1099. Lawrence Manade was second with 1081. Mrs. Rose Biediger was an easy winner in the ladies division with 1074, with Mrs. Laura Jackel taking second with 1057.

The offhand also went to Biediger with 666, and Manade ran second with 634. Mrs. Laura Jackel came off with an easy first, 597, Mrs. Biediger second with 555.

Under the rules of the club only seven members were eligible to score for the medal, some losing one and two relays. Karl Nentwich ran a perfect score of 75 in one relay.

BIG BLACK BLOOMERS HIGH-TOP TENNIS SHOES SHINED UP FOR BPW BASKETBALL GAME
Not that you'll ever get any member of the Hondo B & P W Club to admit it - but we're older than we think. This conclusion was reached after trying to remember the rules and regulations of basketball as played by the fairer sex, circa 1923. Plans are under way to push back time in its flightiness on the evening of 17 March 1953, and appear on the floor of the old gym of Hondo Elementary in big black bloomers, middy blouses, black stockings, and high-top tennis shoes.

Two teams, the Shamrock Queens versus the St. Patrick Babes, will fight it out to the finish, refereed by Dr. John H. Jennings, and first aided by Millie Eckhart and her team of water girls. Cheer leaders for the two teams will be Dianne Muennink and Hortense Carl. Soda pop and sandwich concessions will be under the supervision of Billie Harlee, Thelma Lynch is in charge of properties, and Scottie Blundell will try and we use the word skeptically - to manage the two teams.

An interview with Anne Davis, general chairman of the basketball game, reveals the information that stars such as Erna Leinweber Martin, Winnie Rucker Braden, Lucille Newton, Mary Ruth Cameron and Marguerite Newton Murrill, will shine for Hondo.

Charge for admittance will be fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for school children under 12 years of age. Tickets go on sale next week and can be secured from Mrs. Winnie Braden at the Chamber of Commerce.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The Public School Systems of Texas is far from being what it should be. Although begun over one hundred years ago, the progress was slow and the interest shown by the citizens and patrons nil. Texas has not yet awakened to the needs of better schools. The Gilmer-Aiken law is the beginning of a new era.

The good roads put better schools within reach of every child. Too many people have not yet discovered this. The children's welfare is at stake, not the parents' notion and convenience.

Schools are for the children and advantages. Our schools are better organized than they were 20 years ago. This should give the child a better opportunity to acquire a broader conception of his task in preparing for his life's work or calling. Few students have college advantages, hence the necessity of a more extensive, modern curriculum, thorough teachers and modern facilities. No parent will oppose a tax if the school is a standard working unit. All schools should strive to surpass the requirements made by the state. Likewise the teachers. The schools should put first things first, and create a desire in the child to achieve that goal. A finished product, a useful, aggressive citizen.

The people of Medina County conceived this idea one hundred years ago when they made their first attempt of establishing a public school in Castrovilla, Feb. 1855 when Messrs. Cha. De Montel, John Vance and G. H. Noonan were granted permission to use the court house for a school. Mr. A. E. Briggs was employed as teacher for a term of four months at a salary of $35 per month.

The public school system of Texas began after the Civil War. A & M was established in 1876. Texas U 1883. The common school was called German-English free schools in the German settlement in S. W. Texas.

Mandatory Publications

So the People May Know

Laws of the State of Texas provide that many county, city, and other officials must publish in the newspapers certain information about their finances and operations. The lawmakers passed these rules because of their belief in the fundamental principles of democracy that a people can properly govern themselves only when they are adequately informed.

There have been violations of these publication laws. These have been violations of omission. That is, some officials have neglected to publish information as required by state law.

The people are entitled to know what information their local officials are required to publish.

This newspaper, therefore, will print a series of articles, prepared by The Texas Press Association—presenting in plain language pertinent facts in regard to the publication laws.

Are you, as a citizen, getting through your newspaper all of the information that law says you should have—concerning the operations of your local government?

Find out by following this series of articles in your newspaper.

Although we may sympathize with any person whose personal character and integrity is assailed even by a member of Congress, many feel that the legislative function is so important that we should be cautious in making any changes that might bridge or impede the elected representatives of the people in the execution of their law-making duty.

Passing Of Bucksaw Brings Tears, But Not Too Many

We do not claim the present muddled situation is due entirely to the passing of the bucksaw era, although one can make a very strong case. There were no atom bombs, no fighters, bub-ble gums or gelatinous salads with cherries perched on sculptured tops half a century ago. Gasoline engine sawing outfits were hired by many farmers in 1900, but any up and coming lad could find a man who would willingly pay a dollar a cord to have his kitchen stove wood bucked into 16 inches lengths. There were always some knotty, chunky pieces that could be tossed into a special pile for the base burner and cellar furnace; and that decreased the effort necessary to earn the dollar.

Only a man who has bucked a cord or more of wood in a 10 hour day will appreciate the full meaning of this essay's title. One point we too often forget today is that half a century ago a dollar was a respectable amount of money and actually bought a considerable amount of merchandise. A city sophisticate would not be expected to know it, but there is a great difference between saws and a definite art in applying back and shoulder muscles to the task.

According to research to date, the bucksaw was invented by D. D. Terrill of Bangor, Maine. He conceived the idea of raker teeth to pull the sawdust through the log-one widespread raker tooth to each several cutting teeth. In case you have never pushed and pulled a bucksaw for a full day, you may be interested to know that hardwoods are easier to saw than soft woods. Less set to the teeth is needed for hardwoods than soft woods, and consequently there is less push and pull tension on the metal. Old timers will agree that a large knot in pine, hemlock or spruce can be very tough sawing. We read recently that a correctly set bucksaw should cut 42 cords before resharpening. We don't know about that, but we do know we have bucked a good many cords of wood for a dollar a cord. It was solid work, one supposes, but in those long-ago days boys and men expected to work hard for their pay. We still think a woodburning stove has something you cannot get from oil, gas or electricity. But lest we be misunderstood, let it be said we don't want to use a bucksaw today unless we have to.

Keep Ideals Alive, Observe National Brotherhood Week During All Of 1953

For centuries, civilization has fought to gain and preserve the basic human rights of religious freedom, tolerance and the brotherhood of mankind. Our nation was founded upon just such principles. Devotion to them has helped build the spiritual strength without which America could never have achieved lasting greatness. We think it is indeed fortunate that a nationwide organization, the National Conference of Christians and Jews, has dedicated itself to keeping those ideals alive. We believe it to be of overlasting importance that a free people never lose sight of the necessity of spreading the kinship of man under God.

This is, of course, a year-around proposition. But since 1934, a Brotherhood Week has been held annually under auspices of the Conference to dramatize universal dependence on the need for true religion in the crusade for liberty and democracy. Now perhaps more than ever before, America faces a challenge from a godless philosophy that would destroy all human and religious rights. The nation is pouring out its wealth to build material strength against the threat of Communism. But despite this, the united cause against the enemy could be weakened were we to become divided by intolerance and bigotry. Acceptance of the meaning of Brotherhood Week can help build up the spiritual and moral power vital to this fight. This newspaper is proud to support the week and urges the public to participate.

Bentsen Writes From Washington

WASHINGTON — That $75 ceiling barring social security payments must have come out of a dream book it's become so unrealistic as far as the 1953 zodiac signs read. Attempting to adjust it, your Congressman has introduced a bill, letting a contributor to social security get out what he put in, no matter how much he is earning at the time the pay-off arrives. Workers under old age and survivors insurance have as much right to their earned and paid for protection as holders of government or private insurance.

As the Social Security law reads now, however, there is a $75 monthly ceiling placed on the amount a person, at age 65, can earn without losing the annuity he has paid by salary deductions throughout his most productive years. The ceiling goes off at age 75. That's preposterous in inflationary times like these if anyone expects an elder citizen to live on the maximum $75 per month he received from his social security. Actually the average social security check is $42. It's unfair and not sound economy to penalize an elder citizen, who wants to work, into retirement and existence on this pittance—or he does not get his paid up annuity unless he refuses to work.

The most important reason the earnings ceiling should be removed is that the social security fund is made up of money exacted by this government, by law, from its citizens on the promise of providing them with insurance. Yet, when these citizens reach age 65 and eligibility, they can't get what they paid in, if they desire to continue working. It is a cynical expression of bad faith on the part of the government.

DEPRESSION CODE
The social security system was a product of the depression ridden mid-thirties. At the time it was passed, the law aimed to remove older people from the nation's working force to make room for younger workers. The theory was that anyone age 65 was ready for the scrap heap anyhow so let's make the fade-out easier.

Times have changed. What was good money in the mid-thirties is now a measly pittance. Rapid strides in our medical knowledge and science have made a 65 year old an active, vital person, able to contribute to the nation's economy. A readjustment is demanded in the social security age benefit program. It's up to the Congress to do something about it.

TAX NOTES ON EXEMPTIONS

Taxpayers wanting to claim exemption for each dependent on their income tax return must first make certain the dependents meet certain qualifications. W. G. Park, local representative of the Internal Revenue Director's Office said today. First, the dependent must be closely related to the taxpayer and must receive from him over one-half of his support. The dependent's gross income must be less than $600, and if married, he must not make a joint return with his or her spouse. In addition, the dependent must not be a citizen or subject of a foreign country, unless he is a resident of the United States, Mexico, or Canada.

The Uvalde Internal Revenue Office will be open Saturday, March 7th, in addition to the regular work days. W. G. Park, local representative of the Internal Revenue Director's Office, has announced. This will especially benefit those who cannot come for assistance at any other time and is done to extend every possible service to the public during the current income tax filing period.

Veterans Warn Of Impostors

Veterans Organizations wish to warn citizens of the unlawful soliciting of funds by transients in their names.

There are no veterans' organizations sponsoring such soliciting. Anytime that a veterans' organization comes to your community to solicit funds, they will be sponsored by the local veterans Post or Chapter with a clearance from your Vigilance Committee or the Chamber of Commerce.

When you are approached by such a person ask for credentials and the name of the Post or Chapter sponsoring them. If they have no proper credentials, it is advised that you call the Commander of the VFW, Lloyd Hermes; or the Legion Commander, Elmo Pope, here in Hondo.

This applies to persons posing as veterans who offer miniature flags or other patriotic emblems for sale, or who ask for donations; and also for persons claiming to be veterans who offer chances for sale on automobiles, or anything else, where money is solicited, unless said person or persons can show proper credentials from Hondo American Legion Post or other bona-fide organizations of the city or county.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

AUSTIN—In the Senate is a bill that has turned out to be the most controversial and most costly of the legislative session to date.

It is a wrangle between two factions of optometrists. The bill occasioned two full days of debate in the House before it finally passed by a vote of 97 to 41.

House Bill 5 is the designation of this measure, whose original purpose was to prevent optometrists from advertising and to break up the optometry chain stores.

The proposition, authored by Rep. Stanley Banks Jr. of San Antonio, has the support of the Texas Optometry Association, a statewide organization of independent optometrists.

Opposing the bill are the advertising optometrists, including the chains. Proponents of the legislation say they want to lift the standards of the profession and increase the authority of the state board of optometry so that it can tighten regulation and thereby eliminate any undesirable practices.

Opponents contend that the bill would invade their private rights and that the public would have to pay more for glasses if the measure should pass.

Amendments in the House toned down the bill's provisions, but did not remove objections of the opponents, who are redoubting their fight against the measure in the Senate.

The attitudes of three members of the House summed up various viewpoints on the bill:

Rep. Banks: "It raises the standards of the profession."

Rep. Douglas Bergman of Dallas: "It's just an attempt to stifle free enterprise."

Rep. Bill (Jitterbug) Henderson of Houston: "Let the people decide where they want to buy glasses. I say get the government out of business."

Another bill that caused a good deal of controversy—one to ban resort lodges from state parks—was killed in the House, 63 to 59. Barring revival of the bill, which seems unlikely, the state parks board can sell bonds to private investors and build resort lodges at Inks Lake near Burnet, Lake Texoma, and Possum Kingdom Lake.

Each project will cost about $1 million. When the lodges are built, they will be leased by the parks board to private operators.

You can look for stout argument next Wednesday, March 11, on whether to repeal or amend the automobile inspection law.

The House voted to postpone further debate on the issue until that time.

Rep. Sam Seller of Waco is author of a bill to wipe the law off the statute books. Rep. D. H. Buchanan of Longview has a bill which he says will remove the undesirable features of the present law but retain its major objective—to take mechanically unsafe cars off the roads.

Highway Department top brass is toiling to perfect a presentation of their $500 million road improvement program for a joint session of House and Senate.

"We plan to lay the full facts before the Legislature at one time," says Chairman E. H. Thornton Jr. of the highway commission.

He added that the commission will not undertake to tell the Legislature how to raise the money because "that is a legislative prerogative, and an administrative agency should not interfere in it."

The department has estimated that it will take an additional $100 million per year for the next five years to bring Texas highways up to standard and maintain them.

It would take a constitutional amendment to complete a proposal by Sen. John Bell of Cuero to help solve the state's water problems.

The proposed amendment which passed a Senate committee test unanimously, would authorize the charging of fees for the use of Texas waters. The money would be used to build dams and reservoirs.

If passed by the Legislature, Bell's proposal would be voted on by the people next November 7.

A strong advocate of the proposed amendment is Sen. Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo, who says his area's water shortage is critical.

Senator Bell predicted that if the amendment passes, local communities will build $250 million worth of dams for water shortage, flood control, and irrigation as soon as the money is available.

For a long time, there have been rumblings of discontent about the administration of Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

Sen. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa wants to bring the whole affair out into the open with a full dress investigation of the state health department, which the senator calls a "farce."

The investigation, if held, "will disclose facts that will warrant the removal" of State Health Officer Cox and his top aides, Sen. Rutherford thinks.

Dr. Cox had no reply to the senator's remarks. He said it was up to the state board of health to do whatever they chose about it.

The board has met several times without acting on the re-appointment of Dr. Cox, whose present term of office expired January 1.

The board could act on the appointment at its next session, March 9, but Sen. Rutherford asked that the board further delay its appointment, pending the results of his proposed investigation.

A Senate subcommittee may report next week on a bill that sets out to establish a uniform plan of taxing gasoline and compensating service stations for shrinkage caused by varying weather.

The original committee hearing on the bill attracted 1,200 service station operators and gasoline wholesalers.

Service station operators contended they were suffering losses because they receive less gasoline than they pay for, since weather changes cause gasoline to alter in volume.

Gasoline jobbers countered that it would cause them undue hardship if they were required, as the bill provides, to compute the four-cent sales tax on each gallon of gasoline at a uniform temperature of 60 degrees.

To eliminate duplication of federal and state powers, especially in the field of taxation, will be the aim of a commission whose members will be appointed by President Eisenhower, Congress, and the National Governors' Conference.

Governor Allan Shivers, as president of the conference, conferred with the president about the idea in Washington, and commented that it was the first time a president has ever called in governors to hear their views on how to stop federal-state conflicts.

It would take a two-thirds vote of the Legislature and a majority vote of the people to pass a proposed constitutional amendment by Searcy Bracewell of Houston to increase the pay of top state officials.

The amendment would increase the governor's salary from $12 thousand to $25 thousand, the attorney general's from $10 thousand to $15 thousand, and the comptroller, treasurer, and secretary of state from $6 thousand to $12 thousand.

Health And Future Of New Baby Calls For Parent Training

Parents want their children to get a good start in life. A young couple having their first baby can't be too careful, it seems, in seeing that he has the right diet, the right layette, and so on.

Teamwork of the parents will make adjustment to the newest member of the family smoother. Being the family breadwinner isn't enough for Father. His interest in the baby, which should have begun early during his wife's pregnancy, contributes to his mental health, as well as hers. It enables him to make the most of the mutual emotional attachment between him and his son or daughter and eases some of the strain brought on by the extra work and responsibility from his spouse's shoulders. Any clumsiness in handling the baby when he first begins shouldn't discourage him. It won't be long till he's a quick change artist with a diaper, head man of the nursing bottles, and a whiz at bathing the baby, and with his growing skills will come chances (made by him, if need be) for boasting about his offspring.

Father's help with household chores, as well as baby care, will be doubly appreciated by Mother.

while she is getting back on her feet. For a while she'll need plenty of sleep and rest and a minimum of housework and running up and down stairs. Also she'll need to follow the diet prescribed by her physician to be sure she gets the right kind and amount of food. He may advise certain exercises as well. Too many visitors may prove tiring to the Mother and a source of infection for the baby.

The new Mother will want seriously to consider her doctor's recommendation to nurse her baby. Because of her general health or other factors she can't control, she may not be able to, of course. However, breast milk is better than artificial milk because it is nearly always the right strength, amount, and temperature; it is perfectly clean; and it helps the baby during the nursing period to share her immunity to certain "catching" diseases. The period for which the baby may be breast fed may average as long as eight or ten months. Even while being nursed, he may need a bottle occasionally, and towards the end of the nursing period, he is gradually weaned to the bottle and the cup.

SECO PHILOSOPHER SAYS

Glad The President Is Keeping His Farm Even If It Isn't Paying Off

Dear editor:

Last week in my letter to you I was talking about the school teachers' problem, how there was a shortage of teachers in Texas due to the fact the profession apparently has been underpaid and is failing to attract enough young people, all the smart ones want to go into something that pays better, and how a lot of people believe the solution is to give the teachers an increase in pay.

This may be right, but I'm afraid the request comes anywhere from fifteen to thirty years too late to help the present adult population.

You can look around you now and see that what this country needed thirty years ago, add or subtract a few years, was an increase in teachers' pay in order to attract a lot better class of teachers, that is, just judge by the amount of education you and I and a lot of others I could name absorbed.

The argument for more teachers and better teachers and more money to attract them is pretty plain, when you examine the state of a lot of grown people's education. I ain't sayin' if they'd paid my teachers more money they'd had any better luck with me, but I reckon I'm gettin' close to sayin' it.

But I didn't start out to discuss the teachers' problem, what I started out to say is everybody has problems. For example, before he had any notion of running for President, Eisenhower bought a farm up in Pennsylvania and the newspapers were full of his plans about it. He and a partner were going to operate it and split the profits fifty-fifty.

Well, the other day I noticed in a newspaper that up to now there haven't been any profits to split and that President Eisenhower has decided he hasn't got time to be President and look after a farm too.

I know what he means. Running a farm is a full-time job and the day never was made with enough hours in it to run a farm and the Presidency too.

But I notice Eisenhower is holdin' on to the place, and I'm glad of it. Just because a farm don't show any profit is no reason for sellin' it. If it was, the real estate people in this country would get rich on commissions.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

PRICE CONTROL OFFICE TO CLOSE MAR. 31

San Antonio District Office Price Stabilization, serving counties in South and South Texas, will be shut down March 31, Guy P. Allison, District rector, announced.

He said closure of the district office forms a part of the administration's price control program. The price control is due to expire April 30.

schedule is worked out by doctor in cooperation with parents. When the baby is an everything used to measure, and give bottle feedings, sterilized; later, ordinary cleanliness is all that is necessary. Soon after birth, the infant gins taking sterile water, seven times a day at times not conflicting with the nursing schedule. Later, other items such as orange juice, cod liver oil, cereal are added.

For a short while, how to lift the baby may worry the first-time parents. The American Cross teaches the three following methods in its baby classes:

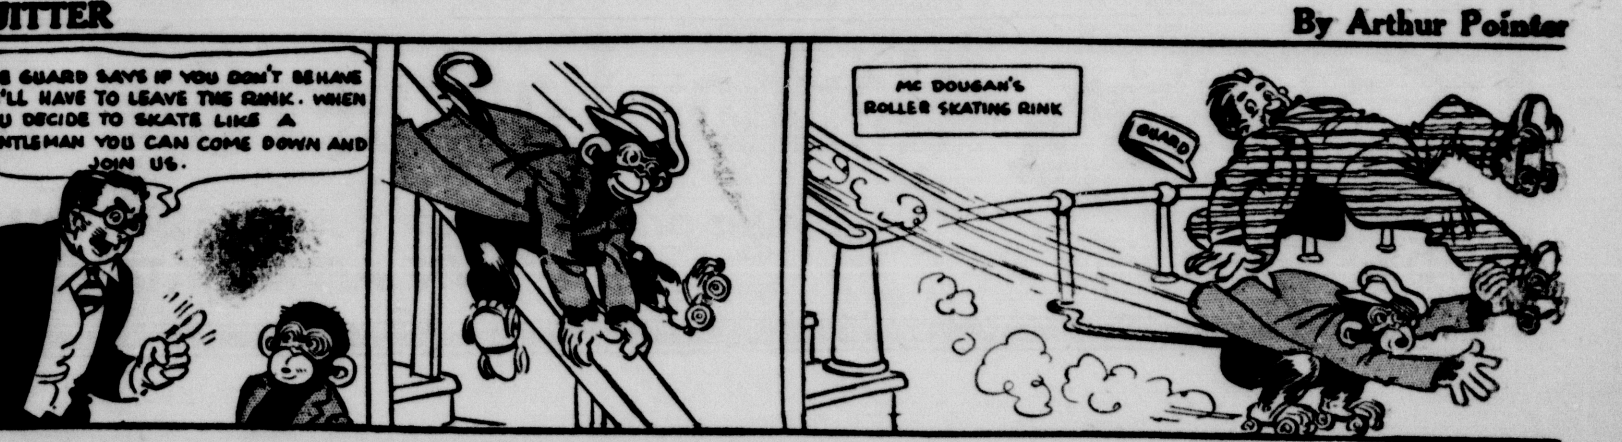

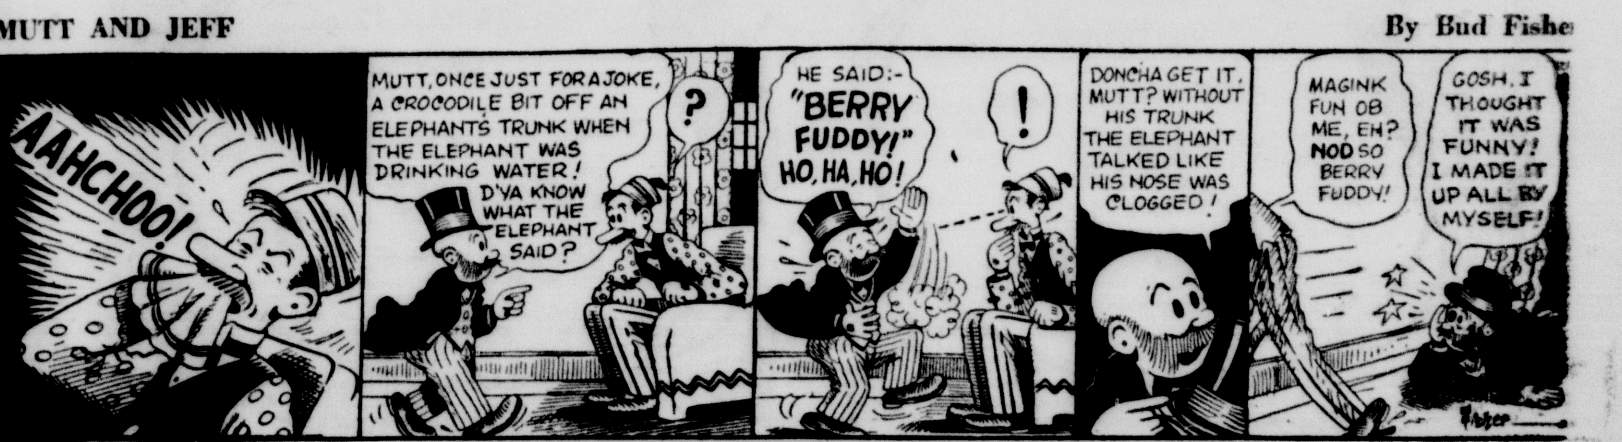

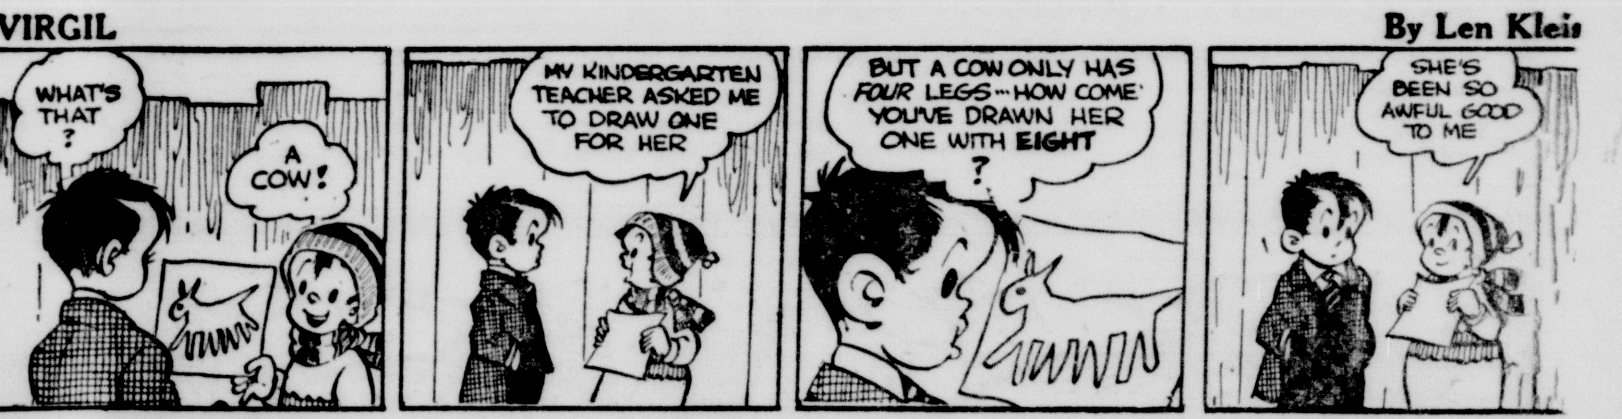

To lift the baby, grasp the ankles with one hand, placing a finger between the ankle and lift the baby's buttocks slightly. Slip the other hand all the back to support the back head with the fingers spread, then gently lift and shift into your arms, still supporting the head and back.

To carry him using only one arm, lift and swing him into crook of your arm, so that faces you and his hip rests yours. His head and shoulders are securely supported by your arm and outspread hand.

To hold him firmly for a bath, use one arm to support back of the head and shoulder and grasp his far arm at shoulder. With the other, support the buttocks and grasp his leg at the thigh. Gently lower him into the water, feet first. Keep a grasp on his arm during the bath. To wash and rinse back, shift your hold by reaching across his chest with your other hand and grasping his arm at the shoulder, letting his rest forward on your arm.

In handling a baby, three essential points to remember: (1) support his back and head all times, (2) lift him gently avoiding sudden motions, (3) maintain a secure but gentle grasp.

HERE IN HONDO

Mrs. Joe Cockrell and son, Rodney, spent the weekend with Mrs. Cockrell's parents, M&M Theo. Cameron.
The C. M. Merritts received a warm welcome from their old friends when in town this past weekend for Julia Crow Biddle's wedding.
On Friday, M&M Armin Rothe and Mrs. Walter Rothe attended because he represents the kind of men who contributed so much to the richness and history of Me- dina County.

Anton Haller was born in Cas- troville, August 11th, 1882, a time when the stories of Indian raids were still vivid, and the Civil War fires were just burning out in the South. Anton was one of 9 children born to Louis Haller and Leona Naegelin, original members of the Castro colony that settled in Castroville in 1844. Anton's father Louis, came to America to escape the monarchy of the Kaiser, and after living 10 years in Castroville swore al- legiance to the United States against the French, and became a naturalized citizen in 1856. When the Civil War came along, Louis Haller took up the rebel cry of the South and became a loyal Confederate soldier, later to become a "true-blue demo- crat."

Anton grew up in what he calls "sorrowful days," when hardships were many and pay was little, but he lived to see Dizzy Dean play ball for Cas- troville, be a driver on the first mule train of commercial onions shipped out of Texas, and later become a respected Judge of his territory.
When a boy, Anton attended Saint Louis Parochial School in Castroville, a school where most of the children had to walk four or five miles to class; later, as a young man, Anton worked as a "hand." He moved from place to place staying several weeks with a farmer or rancher, help- ing pull corn, chop and pick cot- ton, pitch hay, burn pear and drive cattle. The hands in those days usually travelled on horse- back, slept out, and did their own cooking. It was during those early days of moving around that Anton helped out in a rail gap between Stockdale and Cuero.

Joe Bader Wagon Train
It was in those early days the Joe F. Bader Train was the best and biggest wagon train on the trails. In 1906, the Bader train carried the first commercial on- ion load from Carrizo Springs to Cotulla, a 56 mile trip that took weeks of travel across wild pas- ture land and muddy trails. There were 6 wagons in the train, with Mr. Bader, the owner, in the lead with his 6-mule wagon, fol- lowed by five others driven by Anton Haller, his brother John- nie, now dead, Arthur Holzhaus, and Mr. Bader's own sons, Al- fred and James. Each wagon car- ried a 4500 to 5800 pound load averaging fifty cents per hundred pounds. The men were paid on the basis $30.00 per month as wagon train drivers, and in those days the men bought their own grub, and said Anton with a smile, "cooked it themselves. Darn good, too!"

All Night Long Dancing
Judge Haller's face really light- ed up when he started telling about the parties in the early days. The dances were all night affairs, starting at 8:00 in the evening and lasting until sunup next morning. At 12:00, straight up, the folks were all treated to a midnight meal, costing 25 cents and it cost a couple only 50 cents to dance all night in Cas- troville. The dances were usually held in the building that was called the Tondre and Heiligman dance hall, later known as Phil Wernette's dance hall and saloon. Anton was bar tender, and though he got to dance once in a while he never took a drink while work- ing. And the men all had to leave their guns outside before coming in the dance hall. In those days there was a girls society in Cas- troville called the "P. D. A." Club, that's "Please Don't Ask," and most of the town's belles be- longed to it, with Judge Haller recalling the names of Rosa Be- etz, Eugenia Wernette, Mattie Spettie, Minnie Thompson and Rosa Tschirhart.

Cock Fights, Pony Races
In the afternoon of holidays and weddings, the people had loads of fun watching and doing a little brush horse pony races, steer and goat ropin' contests. But the big- gest excitement of all was the Meyer of Castroville was riding, or Bill Terrell from Biry, the betting was high and the race hot.
Dizzy Dean Pitches For The Great Medina Greys
Baseball was the great sport of the day in Castroville 1893, when August L. Naegelin, Henry Frick, Joe Holzhaus and Alphonse L. Haller, all living, played with the Medina Greys. And in 1926 and the stock show and also visited with Mrs. Alice Schuchart. Mrs. W. G. Muennink and Mrs. Jack Landers are leaving this weekend for a two weeks' visit in the midwest. Mrs. Muennink will visit her daughter and fam- ily, Maj. and Mrs. Peter Paul Adams and three children in Bell- ville, Ill., and Mrs. Landers will visit her husband in Kansas City, Mo.

Castroville "Drowns"
Hondo In The Medina River
And it was in the year of 1893 that great excitement took place in politics in Castroville. There was a tug of war on to move the county seat of Medina from Cas- troville to Hondo. When Hondo won, the folks in Castroville all gathered together, built a coffin, painted on the name Hondo, and buried it in the Medina River near Koenig Park. The court House of Castroville which was built in 1878 is now used as a school.

Judge Haller recalled the days when all news was carried on horseback, and he rode many a night delivering wedding or death notices. And then he remembered when the first automobile drove into Castroville. A hunting party made up of the Frosts from San Antonio, was on its way to the bed of the Medina River and a bunch of the men had to pull the car out with horses and ropes. It turned out to be a party with many folks getting to see this new contraption. Then there was the flood in 1900 when the river backed up all the way to the city hall near St. Louis Catholic Church, almost a quarter of a mile; and the time the corn froze on the 1st day of May ruining all the crops that were in tassel; and the first show of paper cur- rency at the time of the building of the Medina Dam, not so many years ago. Silver and gold were used almost completely until then.

At the turn of the century, January 1, 1900, Peter Hoog was elected Justice of the Peace for the Castroville territory. Now Hoog was a strict, law-abiding judge. Everyone could hear him coming because he carried a walking cane which concealed a thin silver sword. In 1931, upon the death of Judge Hoog, Anton Haller was elected to hold office through the half-century mark es- tablishing a record for the two men.

"The Law Up And Down, Across The Medina, In And Around Castroville"
Upon taking oath, the people wanted Anton to call it "The Law West of the Pecos," the slogan for old Judge Roy Bean, but An- ton felt that would be stealing a dead man's title, and called his office the "Law up and down, across the Medina, in and around Castroville," which it has been known as these past 23 years. The Office was set up in the store room of the old Joseph Carle mercantile building, a cen- tral trading post where 6 mule- team loads of bacon and beans used to be shipped to make the Kansas Trail in cattle drive days. Judge Haller about this time re- marked that his office is sup- posed to please the public, and be considerate of all sides. Works around Castroville said old Judge Bean couldn't hold a canine ag- ainst their Judge Haller.
When asked what were some of the most exciting or worst cases he ever had while in office, Judge Haller told of the time he started to break up a fight at a dance, and while he was holding one of the men from stabbing with a knife, the other pulled his knife and really split some blood. Then there was the time he held the examining trial for William La- barski, the soldier who murder- ed Warren Simmang, and Mara- cillo Vara discovered the body in the canal above Castroville. The worst night the Judge ever spent was the night of Palm Sun- day when he was sent word that 6 people, a woman, a 3-year old child and four men had drowned in Medina Lake. There had been two boat-loads of 9 people having a picnic and when they were crossing the lake going back to shore a squall came up and cap- sized the boat. One girl, 21 years old, swam to shore, and a man and 10-year old boy clung to the capized boats. It was 21 days before the last body came up, and it was the smallest and lightest body. It was a sad and terrible night.
Anton Haller speaks four languages, Spanish, Alsace, Ger- man and what he calls his Amer- ican-English. He thrives on pol- itics, and is something of a schol- ar.
In closing he remembered, with a twinkle in his eye, the time the U. S. Marshal, Hal Gosling, who lived across the street from the Hallers, was killed by two desperadoes. Ever since, Anton Haller has devoted his time and life to good law. He also added he was a bachelor and "proud of it" in one way, adding then he "didn't know" with a shake of his grey head. Anton's brother, Al- phonse L. Haller, aged 81, lives in Natalia, and his sister, Mary Anna, lives in San Antonio. And, of course, you can always find Judge Haller, Justice of the Peace, "Juez de Pas" in his of- fice, on duty 24 hours a day.

SHIVERS OUTLINES REVENUE PICTURE FOR 53rd LEGISLATURE

Texas' budget is a billion-dollar baby.

But it doesn't have much spending money.

The State budget for the next two years is around a billion dollars.

But five out of every six dollars already have been promised one way or another.

The Legislature can spend only money in the general revenue fund, or in sight during the next two years, which now is about $176 million. Because of decreasing oil production, it may drop sharply in the next few weeks.

What happened to the other millions?

They are either in special funds for special purposes, or already allocated for specific State services.

The trend in financing our State government in recent years has been toward the emphasis of the special funds and allocations, with the result that the general revenue fund has dwindled.

In a recent series of articles I discussed two of these special funds: (1) the available school fund, which is paid out to school districts on the basis of school age population and (2) the Gilmer-Aikin or minimum foundation fund, which supplies enough money to guarantee every child in Texas a minimum standard of schooling.

There is an allocation of $55 million a year for assistance to the old people, the blind, and to dependent children.

Another $15 million goes into a special fund each year for farm-to-market roads under the Colson Briscoe program.

We have a large-though not large enough-State highway fund.

The money for teachers' retirement also comes by special allocation.

So the general revenue fund has been shrinking in proportion to the State's total budget, because many allocations have first access to the tax money collected by the State.

Out of the present modest portion-$176 million or less-the Legislature must cover all general services of the State.

Higher education, including all State-supported colleges, universities, and junior colleges, must be paid for out of the general revenue fund.

The money for upkeep of State hospitals and special schools must come out of that same $176 million.

So must the funds for operation of the courts, from the district level on up.

The same is true of any capital improvements, such as State office buildings, prison system buildings, or additional State hospitals-that is, hospital building costs above the $5 million a year provided by a special tax.

Even the expenses of the Legislature must come from the general revenue fund.

The financial tasks of the Legislature are further complicated by the fact that the government of Texas is now operated on a strict pay-as-you-go basis. This policy rigidly limits appropriations to anticipated revenues.

The Texas Constitution, Section 49a, Article 3, sets forth this requirement in detail:

"It shall be the duty of the Comptroller of Public Accounts in advance of each regular session of the Legislature to prepare and submit to the Governor and to the Legislature upon its convening a statement under oath showing fully the financial condition of the State Treasury at the close of the last fiscal period and an estimate of the probable receipts and disbursements for the then current fiscal year. There shall also be contained in said statement an itemized estimate of the anticipated revenue based on the laws then in effect that will be received by and for the State from all sources showing the fund accounts to be credited during the succeeding biennium."

The Constitution goes on to require that, "save in the case of emergency and imperative public necessity and with a four-fifths vote of the total membership of each house, no appropriation in excess of the cash and anticipated revenue of the funds from which such appropriation is to be made shall be valid."

When the Comptroller finds that an appropriation bill exceeds the estimated revenue he must return it to the house where it originated and in such a case the Constitution prescribes that "the necessary steps shall be taken to bring such appropriation to within the revenue, either by providing additional revenue or reducing the appropriation."

The Comptroller has estimated that there will be available, during the next biennium, about $176 million in the general revenue fund. The Legislature must bring all general service expenditures within this figure-or find more money.

That is why, when the public school teachers requested a $300 per-month increase that would cost the State approximately $67 million in the next biennium, I raised the question of where to find the money. That $67 million would represent nearly 40 per cent of the entire general revenue fund.

It is the Legislature's responsibility and prerogative to determine how much we shall spend for what, and who shall pay for it. It is the Governor's responsibility to recommend a program and a plan of financing it.

In my message to the 53rd Legislature when it convened January 14, I made these specific recommendations of expenditures:

$41,618,484 - State departments;
$72,896,438 - higher education;
$44,313,692 - State hospitals;
$6,976,050 - the judiciary.

I also suggested that funds in addition to those already earmarked for State hospital construction be provided, on an emergency basis, for a tuberculosis hospital building program costing $6,725,000.

At that time I pointed out that these items, totaling $172,529,664, plus legislative and other necessary expense, would virtually wipe out the general revenue fund.

Naturally there may be some inclination to cut these figures I have suggested-but my recommendations themselves represent a considerable paring from the amounts the agencies concerned would have liked to have.

The main source of the general revenue fund is the omnibus tax. Of it, the major portions are from production taxes on basic material like petroleum, natural gas, and sulphur, and from special sales taxes on automobiles, beer, liquor, and cigarettes.

I have suggested that, if the Legislature decides to seek additional revenues to finance State government, it consider levying more taxes on "long-line" natural gas transmission lines.

The people of Texas have shown so much interest in the financial operation of the State that I thought a detailed report on some of the problems your Legislators and your Governor are facing would be of interest.

A fast-growing population, a rapidly expanding economy, and the general pressures of world and national events are challenging our State.

All of us, whether elected officials or private citizens, must work together to meet these challenges and to live up to the great traditions of Texas.

The Executive Secretary said that should the drought be broken shortly the natural food for the antelope probably would be restored in time to help the herd through the vital fawning season. Meanwhile, he added, the small antelope herd in the Panhandle was reported thriving although there is some question as to whether it has attained sufficient size to warrant an open season.

LOOKS AT THE TWINS—

PUBLIC SPENDING

AND TAXATION

AT THE NATIONAL LEVEL

The man who enters the public service should first fortify himself against the danger of having too much expected of him.

If we could know President Eisenhower's mind at the present moment, it would possibly reveal this fact as the chief worry if not the basic cause at the bottom of each of the multitude of worries that now beset him.

As a case in point, there is quite a bit of impatience with the slow progress being made by the administration in "cutting the budget," that is, in reducing the amount to be spent in maintaining the various functions of the national government.

This impatience on the part of the public is understandable, for every effort at retrenchment must wait upon the proper adjustment of necessary outgo before the matter of income can be safely touched.

And here is where every citizen's pocketbook is touched, for it is money taken from the people, through the means of taxes collected, that the costs of government are met.

Considering the magnitude of the sum of money involved, the delicacy of distributing it to the various agencies in such an equitable manner as to insure each service sufficient funds to enable it to properly function and that none may be tempted to waste because of receiving more than needed, it is readily understandable that it is, at best, a stupendous job, requiring time and patience.

When the sums involved have grown to stupendous proportions and at the same time have been carelessly, if not grossly, mismanaged the problem becomes more difficult.

Discussing these two factors as they affect the present problem of "cutting the budget," David Lawrence says in his syndicated column:

"The job of analyzing the budget in such a short period by a new administration, especially at a time when emergency spending for war purposes is at its height, is something that has never before been undertaken when administrations have changed."

"In 1921 and in 1933 the federal budget was a relatively small affair. The Truman budget now being studied is more than 10 times as big as the 1933 budget."

It would seem that such an increase in costs of government would have given the budget-makers pause; would have induced the most careful consideration of the how and for what government money was being spent.

Instead of the meticulous care such a task would impose, it seems to have been handled more as a matter of guess-work than as a task conscientiously performed.

Again we quote from Mr. Lawrence: "The fiscal guessers here have usually been wrong in estimating tax receipts — they have been known for the last 20 years under Democratic administrations to underestimate receipts and overestimate expenditures."

"The Eisenhower administration would make a 10 strike if it could go back to the accurate estimating which the Treasury used to do before it became politically the habit to play tricks with the national psychology in forecasting budget figures."

"One of the favorite devices used to be to predict a $10 billion deficit in January, and then in June when the deficit turned out to be only three or four billions—as if any deficit could be a source of rejoicing."

"But that was the kind of psychology depended upon to ease the deficits into the public mind."

So, in view of the magnitude of the problem, even when managed in the best proper way, and the mess its mismanagement over the past twenty years has left it in, let's be patient with the new administration in its effort to restore honesty and efficiency to its administration.

In his effort to find the right way out of the maze of mismanagement which Eisenhower inherited from his predecessor, he needs, next to the will and purpose to do right, the patient tolerance of the people while he finds the right.

And at this point, seeing that tax reduction must wait on a reduction in spending, we can best serve our own interests as taxpayers and our country as good citizens by giving our moral support to the new administration in its every effort to do the right.

AT THE STATE LEVEL

Appropos of the foregoing, and to bring the matter of excessive costs of government closer home, we quote the following from the January issue of Texas Tax Journal:

"So much attention has been focused on the huge Federal deficit, that a similar and equally disturbing phenomena on the state level has been largely overshadowed."

"In 1946, only one state was spending more than it received in annual revenue. But by 1948, this number had risen to 16—and by 1951, the number of states with expenditures exceeding revenues had increased to 27!"

"Whereas general revenue for all states increased from $7,190 million in 1946 to $13,253 million in 1951, general expenditures (excluding provisions for debt retirement), increased from $6,216 million to $13,939. Thus, in the five year period, revenues increased $6,055 millions, while expenditures in the same time rose $7,723 million!"

"The significance becomes immediately more meaningful when it is realized that taxes must inevitably follow the trend of spending."

"In 1946, only one state, Michigan, was spending more than it received."

"But two years later, the roll was increased by 15 additional states."

"And by 1951, although seven states had returned to the path of fiscal rectitude, 18 more states had fallen in with the deficit 'trend.'"

Presumably concluding that this trend of the states to go on a deficit basis—that is, spending more for current expenses than it collects from all its taxable resources—the Journal offers the following suggestions:

"Students of the problem hold the 'trend' thus far can be cut back and effectively reduced if spending within the states is held down by the following practices:

"1. Adoption of legislation and a stricter administrative policy to prevent public welfare program abuses."

"2. Careful utilization of personnel; filling vacancies only when a vital function is involved."

"3. Avoiding new programs and refusing to extend existing activity."

"4. Judicious choice of projects involving major construction, undertaking only the most essential."

And it further admonishes: "It might not be amiss to call the taxpayers' and the members' of the Legislature attention to the fact that all of the increase in our tax load over the last few years does not rest entirely with the Federal government."

"Constitutionally in Texas we cannot spend more than the tax revenues we have on hand or in sight, but it is feared that tax legislation may be enacted to cover purposes that are not necessary, or that could be done without, at least for the time being."

"This trend of mounting expenditures and taxation must be halted and reversed, else the day may come, when the commitments made as of now with cheap dollars will have to be paid off with more valuable dollars, and when those dollars are harder to come by."

"The fact must not be lost sight of, that in the eleven-year period from 1941 to 1952, the cost of our State government increased 234 per cent—while our population increased only 23 per cent, and the cost of living increased 80 per cent."

"The fifty-third legislature can make an outstanding contribution to its constituents, if serious and careful consideration is given to each and every piece of legislation that is submitted, that could or would increase the tax burden now being borne by the citizens of this State."

As a taxpaying citizen, what do you think?

LEGISLATURE STRIKES

AGAINST LOAN SHARKS

Rep. Bill Kugle of Galveston, who recently offered bills to strengthen the laws against gambling rackets, has taken in after another group—the loan sharks. He has proposed a constitutional amendment which would place a ceiling on the charges that can be assessed on small borrowers.

Kugle's amendment retains the present 10 per cent maximum on interest in the constitution but permits the legislature to substitute for all of maximum percentage for all of the charges, including interest, investigation, fees, credit insurance and the other items which now are used to run up the cost sometimes to 200 per cent or more. Most states have adopted similar legislation, and sets a figure that is fair alike to borrower and lender.

Driven out of other states, the high-raters have made Texas into a "loan sharks' paradise," declare members of the anti-usury committee of the Junior Bar of Texas. President Tom Reavley says that, through the elimination of subterfuges, the cost of a typical loan can be reduced to about one-sixth of the present charge.

Lyndon Johnson Urges Bipartisan Support Of Eisenhower's Effort To Preserve Unity Of America

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson has called for bipartisan support of President Eisenhower's proposal to notify the world that the United States will not yield to the Soviet drive to enslave free people.

In a formal statement, Senator Johnson said that President Eisenhower "deserves strong bipartisan support for his effort to preserve the unity of America." He expressed the hope that the resolution which embraces the President's proposal "will receive the unanimous approval of the Senate."

Senator Johnson's statement was adopted by the Senate Democratic Policy Committee unanimously. It thus became an official pronouncement of the Senate Democratic leaders.

President Eisenhower's proposal to serve notice on the world that the United States will not acquiesce in the Soviet enslavement drive is one that all Americans can embrace," Senator Johnson said. "It is a needed re-statement of the principles that have guided our people and our government throughout the struggle against communist aggression.

"There is in the President's resolution no trace of the partisanship that could lead to discord and disunity. Congress should be able to respond in the same high spirit.

"It is to be hoped that the resolution—as written by the President and his advisers—will receive the unanimous approval of the Senate and thereby serve to notify mankind that Americans are united against Soviet tyranny. The President deserves strong bipartisan support for this effort to preserve the unity of America."

Watch Your Child For Rheumatic Fever

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, commenting on the seriousness of rheumatic fever, today declared that this disease is recognized as one of the greatest killers among young people. Between the ages of 10 and 15, rheumatic fever causes more deaths than any other disease, the State Health Officer said, and in persons between the ages of 15 and 24, it is outranked only by tuberculosis.

"The diagnosis in this disease is not always easy," Dr. Cox stated. "Any child with suspicious symptoms should be under the prolonged supervision of a physician since along with a general involvement of the body, the heart is practically always involved. The symptoms consist only of pallor, loss of weight, easy fatigue, unusual sweating, loss of appetite, and sometime fleeting muscular pain, and a little joint stiffness and a rapid beating of the heart. The more severe cases may show repeated nose bleeds, extreme nervousness, stiffness, and pain in the joints, swelling of the joints, fever and pain over the heart."

According to Dr. Cox the majority of children who experience rheumatic fever suffer more than one attack and each may last months or even at times one to three years. The final result depends on the amount of heart damage incurred. Closely supervised bed rest throughout the entire period of infection is essential in order to minimize this danger.

Author Hails From Hondo

Mary Octavia Davis, well-known author of children's stories, adds more honors to her family and home town with the recent publication of her book "Pinky." Since its publication, the writer is the popular honoree of many parties given for her in San Antonio. Last weekend "Dutz", as Mary Octavia is known to her friends, received the "first off the press" volume of her latest book "Pinky" at a surprise luncheon given by a group of teachers at the Menger Hotel's Colonial Room in San Antonio. Miss Davis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Davis of Hondo.

Teacher Pay Not Apace With Other Incomes

Pay of college teachers has not kept pace with income of other groups of people who sell their services, such as professional or wage-earning workers, a recent study made for the Council of College Presidents of State Supported Colleges and Universities shows.

The gross income per year of members of certain professions has increased as much as 192 per cent in the past 12 years. Examples cited in the study are dentists from $6,592 per year to $14,058 per year; lawyers from $6,747 to $14,171; and physicians from $7,632 to $22,298.

Wages in manufacturing industries are up 181 per cent, going from $25.20 a week in 1940 to $70.80 in October, 1952.

Statistics show that while professional and wage-earning people were increasing their dollar income ranging from 110 to 192 per cent, college teachers of Texas were seeing their income increased only 62 per cent, to an average of approximately $4,000 a year.

This increase in the dollar income of college teachers is considerably less than the increase in the cost of living 91 per cent, the study shows.

In noting the serious results of the maladjustment of college teachers' salaries the council's research committee has pointed out that colleges cannot compete in free labor markets for teachers.

Many of the best college employees leave the profession, and more capable young people are shunning the profession, the Council claims. A bigger per cent of college staff is in the lower paid ranks, such as instructors instead of professors, and a bigger per cent of college teachers with lower degrees are employed because of the salary status.

Larger classes are leading to assembly line education, the report indicates.

The Council says that these things necessarily result in a poorer quality of education, as is evidenced by the fact that Texas received less than three per cent of scholarships awarded in 1952-53 under the Fulbright Bill and ranked 39th in standing of her students that took deferment tests for selective service.

UP GOES THE POWER OF EVERY BUICK-

Special

and Roadmaster!

JACK WINKLER BUICK CO.

Hondo

Dial 6-3351

West Hwy.

It's more than pride that makes a man want a lot of horsepower beneath the hood of the car he owns. For the real point in reaching record horsepowers and compression ratios goes beyond miles per hour. It steps up performance and economy in normal driving.

That's what Buick engineers did when they upped the power and compression of each 1953 Buick—SPECIAL, SUPER and ROADMASTER—to the highest figures in Buick's fifty-year history.

In the SUPER and ROADMASTER, they put a new kind of V8 Engine—first passenger-car V8 with 8.5 to 1 compression, and a long list of other major engineering advances.

For the SPECIAL, they redesigned the F-263 Fireball 8 Engine—gave it shorter flame travel, faster firing, higher horsepower and compression.

And to these spirited engines they coupled the new Twin-Turbo Dynaflo Drive* that adds fast, quiet getaway to utter smoothness.

Just to give you an example of what all this means: The 1953 Buick SPECIAL with Dynaflo Drive can beat the mighty 1952 ROADMASTER on getaway—can reach 30 mph (when the law allows) with a combined speed and jerk-free smoothness no other car can equal.

Of course, there's far more to these new Buicks for 1953—some seven dozen new features alone.

But why not come in and see for yourself that these are the greatest Buicks—and the greatest values—in fifty great years?

*Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.
